A photograph of a large, light-colored stone sign with the words "EASTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY" engraved in a serif font. The sign is set on a brick-paved walkway. In the background, there are trees with autumn-colored leaves and a building with arched windows.

EASTERN WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Residential Life and Closed Circuit Television

Presented by Josh Watilo

Goals of this presentation

- To show the steps needed for implementing a closed circuit television system (CCTV)
- How CCTV helps to combat illegal movie viewing in residential halls
- To show the benefits that associate with a University channel

Background on “EagleVision Ch22” EWU’s Closed Circuit Television Channel

When in 1998, Housing and Residential Life updated their residence halls with cable television, they realized that they could kill two birds with one stone. One issue resolved was illegal viewing of films in public areas and secondly, the ability to reach a large amount of EWU residents.

Uses of EagleVision and CCTV

- Advertising for campus clubs and organizations
- Licensed film showing
- Student produced material
- Residential departmental Information
- Contests to promote the channel
- Educational programming

Partners with EWU and EagleVision

Cheney Cable Company

Designated a channel for the station

Provides channel support with maintenance

Residence Life Cinema

Hollywood Films

Equipment

Licenses

Support

Equipment used in CCTV

- Modulator
- Character Generator/Power Point
- Cable connection to main system
- VCR's*, DVD Player's*, Digital Media Player
- Phone line
- TV monitor
- *PC tied to router and modem
- PC/Internet

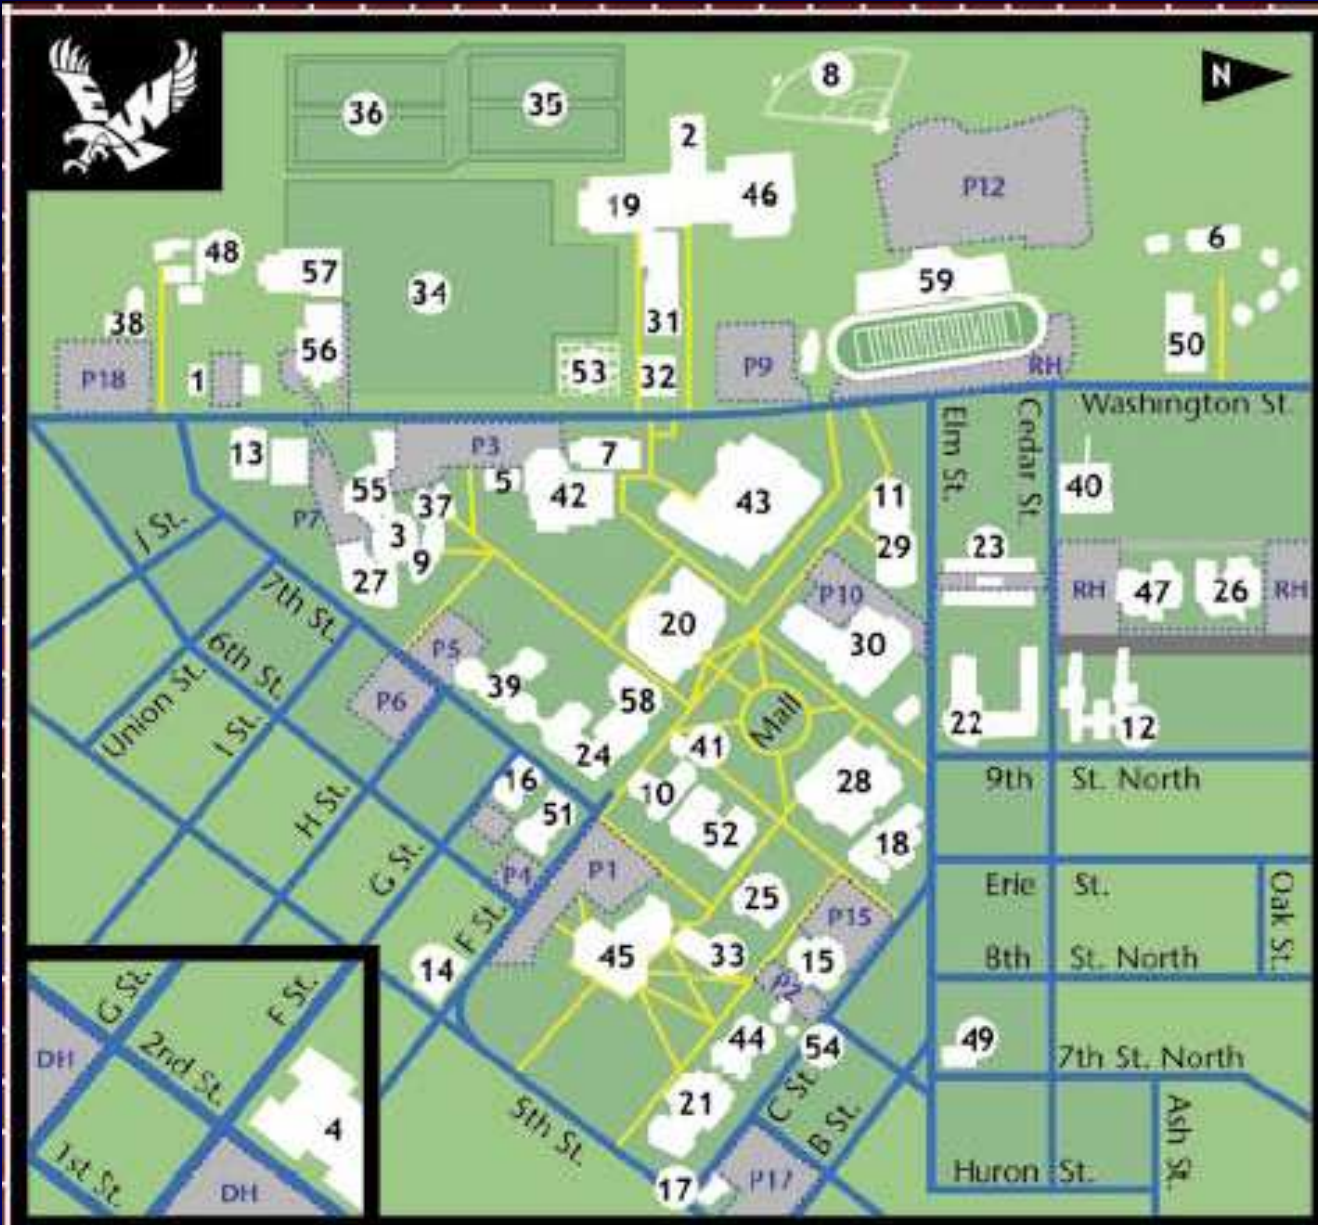

Location

EagleVision
Ch 22 is located in Dressler Hall

CCTV on EWU's campus

Who Staffs the Station

EagleVision is staffed by students.

There is one paid position who is the station manager.

Student must live in the Housing system.

Volunteering opportunities available.

Issues EWU has dealt with in setting up a CCTV Station

- Copyright laws within the University
- Cable Company
- Equipment

Budget

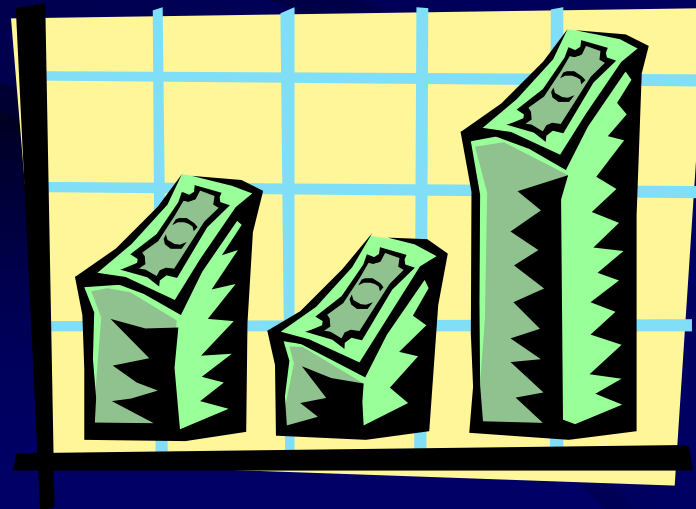

Money allocated for EagleVision CCTV comes from Housings “Student Activities fund”.

Start up costs of equipment

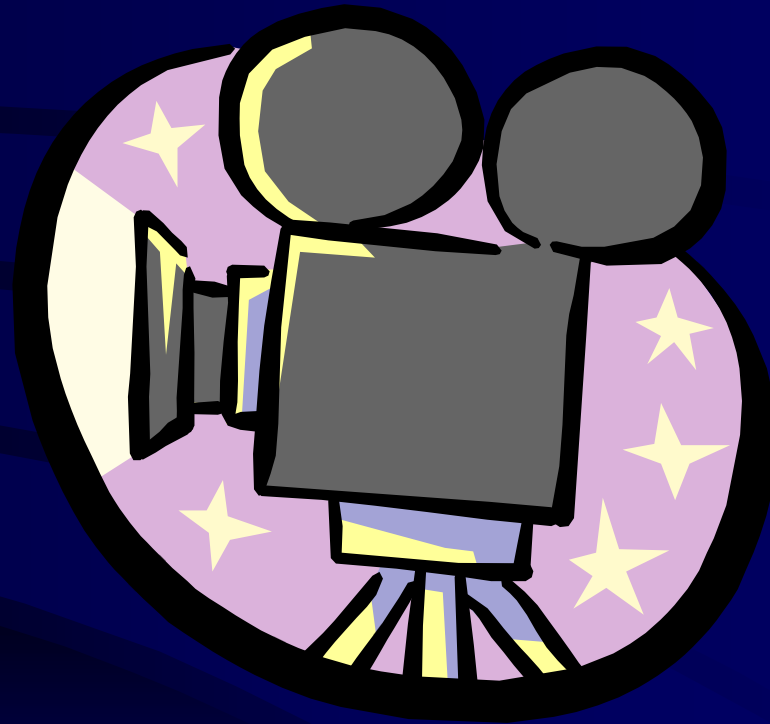

Maintaining and upgrading of current equipment

Cost of staffing the channel

Licenses and films from Res Life Cinema

Questions?

EV22